Return to Nazareth

The time of waiting was not yet over. Centuries of expectation had ended with a host of angels, with great wonder among the simple and the wise, and flight from the shedding of innocent blood.

The final time appointed would not come until God had lived the full experience: learned to walk, read, reason, labour for a living, and the Maker came to the maturity of his human image.

Before the battle with evil was begun, life was blessed in the little things, and there was grace in a humble house; and light would for ever shine in darkness because God had visited and redeemed his people.

*Jesus bearer of our humanity,
Mary gracious, gentle Mother,
Joseph faithful, loving protector,
have mercy on us.*

May God grant that the Holy Family of Nazareth shall be our protection and guide day by day and year by year, leading us to the full revelation of glory.

(From Stations of the Nativity by Raymond Chapman)
